

I am writing to oppose the real possibility that the FCC will deregulate broadband service. A monopoly by large telephone companies would degrade service, limit choices, and cause a steep increase in prices for the consumer. We are a family of modest means who relies on the internet for homework and economic shopping options. Please do not create an environment that would make it very difficult for many families to afford internet service. Thank you.